

Place/Region	Nijagal Betta is a hillock of ruined temples, forts, caves and striking rock formations. It's believed that Hyder Ali and Peshwa Madhav Rao fought a war here. The trek is fairly easy and it takes about 90 minutes to two hours to reach the top at leisure. There are plenty of abandoned structures worth exploring. The path has many sculptors from the Hoysala period and also has rock etchings that appear to be pre-historic, but this hasn't been authenticated.
